PARTNER

DVS is the German Welding Society and one of the global partners of the International Institute of Welding (IIW).

Together with other welding organisations worldwide, we support young welders with training courses, competitions and networking.

In 2025, the next welding event will take place in Essen, Germany.

Please send your best young welding talents! We want to shape the future with you.

Let's create the champions of the next generation in your country.

CHALLENGE

The International Welding Competition is the international highlight for young welders.

Four manual welding processes, many nations, one competition: The International Welding Competition by DVS does it all!

No other competition combines skills, ability and team spirit like this one.

DVS periodically organises the competition during the leading world trade fair SCHWEISSEN & SCHNEIDEN and invites nations from all over the world to send their young talents to the contest.

All costs for the organisation will be covered by DVS. Participating teams must only cover their traveling expenses to and back from the event. For that and possible expenses for the preparation DVS sponsors 5.000 Euro per Team.
